Client Challenges

Withum is the 27th largest accounting firm in the US, with roughly $150m in revenue, a staff of about 900 and 2,000 audits conducted annually.

The firm believes the traditional audit faces challenges in the mid-term, based on the following trends:

- Lenders seeking alternative forms of data for decision making
- Commoditization of audit driving down prices
- Limitations of data creating inability to sell value-added services

Withum had been investigating automation of data analysis to protect against these challenges, and this solution offered an excellent fit.

Success Factors

- Clear client engagement strategy: Implementation involved working closely with the partner in charge of audit technology and the project audit manager to both drive senior level buy-in and to facilitate the operational success of the project.
- Smooth service delivery: A new software connector was quickly added that improved client coverage, and smoothly delivered the core service aspects, including creating a client portal.
- Excellent client relationship: Withum continues to help evolve the platform, and lead partner Jim Bourke is a strong advocate at conferences, referring to the solution as the future of audit technology.
